Proceedings of SALT 30:
Contributor information sheet *

Joseph Rhyne
Cornell University

Kaelyn Lamp
Cornell University

Nicole Dreier
Cornell University

Chloe Kwon
Cornell University

Abstract We describe the basic submission and copyediting process for papers that will appear in the Proceedings of SALT 30.

Keywords: SALT 30, proceedings, instructions, submission, publication process

1 Basic information

- The page limit is 18 pages for papers and posters, 24 pages for invited speakers, both limits excluding references.

- We strongly encourage authors to typeset using LaTeX. Using LaTeX allows authors not to worry about setting margins, formatting figures or examples, and greatly simplifies bibliographies, textual citations, and example numbering, among many other perks.

- Submissions should be in pdf format, and submitted using the online submission system on the SALT proceedings website. Please do not send submissions via email.

- Questions and comments may be directed to salt-mailbox@cornell.edu.

2 Timeline

July 20, 2020 - Authors receive the SALT instruction packet

September 30, 2020 - The submission deadline

October 30, 2020 - Last day for September 30 submissions to receive revisions

---

November 30, 2020 - Revisions due; no new submissions are accepted after this date

December 15, 2020 - On-time submissions are published if they have not been already

December 31, 2020 - No revisions are accepted after this date

3 Submission and publication procedure

The proceedings of SALT are published by the electronic publishing platform of the LSA.

1. By July 20, authors should receive the instruction package which includes the rights form, instructions, style guides, and LaTeX template

2. Fill out, sign, and return the rights form included with author instructions.

3. Register/log in to the SALT website at http://journals.linguisticsociety.org/proceedings/index.php/SALT

4. Submit your manuscript to SALT proceedings website

5. Complete copy-editing

   • The SALT editors will read your paper and check layout errors and adherence to the style guidelines. If problems are noted, you will receive an email asking you to submit a corrected pdf. N. B. This year editors will not be suggesting revisions for grammar, clarity, etc., so those will be the author's responsibility

6. Add page numbers

7. Publication

   • Articles are published on a rolling basis, so earlier submissions will be prioritized and published first.

Senior Editor
Joseph Rhyne
203 Morrill Hall
Cornell University
Ithaca, NY 14850
jtr92@cornell.edu

Senior Editor
Kaelyn Lamp
203 Morrill Hall
Cornell University
Ithaca, NY 14850
kjl227@cornell.edu

SALT 30 author information sheet

Junior Editor
Nicole Dreier
nd389@cornell.edu

Junior Editor
Chloe Kwon
dk837@cornell.edu